

SIDES Connector Development Training For Software Development Vendors

NASWA will be hosting a two-day training session, January 11-12, 2011, on how to connect to and exchange separation requests and responses using the State Information Data Exchange System (SIDES). SIDES is used to electronically exchange a variety of claim information, including separation information and earnings verification data, between state UI agencies and employers or third party administrators.

This session has limited space available for interested software development vendors. The session will be held at 444 North Capitol Street NW, Washington, D.C. and will begin on January 11th at 8:30 a.m. and end January 12th at 4:30 p.m. The vendor registration fee is $350.00 per person. Registration includes all training materials, a continental breakfast each morning, and lunch on both days.

Software development vendors interested in having a staff member attend this training should contact: John Quichocho at jquichocho@naswa.org or 202-509-0776 and complete and return the training registration form no later than January 7, 2011. Since there is limited space available for this session any over flow requests will be given priority for the next session later in 2011.

Vendors needing additional information regarding the training session content or the SIDES program should contact John Sharkey at john.sharkey@itsc.org or 202-744-2649.
